Our supply relationship and the orders of your company to the Berghof GmbH

Ladies and Gentleman,

the current crisis related to the COVID 19 virus poses significant challenges for all of us. We are currently doing our best to keep our business running. It goes without saying that the current restriction of public life by the virus and the corresponding official orders and measures lead to considerable problems for the vast majority of companies in providing deliveries and services on schedule.

With this letter we would like to inform you that we too are of course not spared such problems. Nevertheless, we are making every effort to maintain our business operations in such a way that we are able to provide the deliveries and services we have promised as well as possible. Despite our best efforts, we may not always be able to do so in individual cases where, for example, our suppliers and subcontractors do not supply us with goods and services.

We will then try to inform you about such obstacles to performance as soon as possible. In this way, we would ask you already now to look into possible delays and performance problems. These are not based on a disdain for your company, but can currently occur despite our best efforts. Wir hoffen, dass es uns gemeinsam gelingt, diese Situation mit möglichst wenig Folgeschäden zu bewältigen.

We hope for your understanding and remain in
